Rule 18: The Internet & Electronic Media

Internet Materials

- Start with S.R. 18!
- Four basic types of online sources:
  - (1) Original images found online (e.g., HeinOnline)
  - (2) Online version of a common, published source (e.g., a brief found online)
  - (3) PDFs obtained from the internet (e.g., government report)
  - (4) Non-PDF webpages and documents (e.g., blog post)

(1) Original images found online

- A scanned image or photocopy of the original source
- Cite as if you're citing the print version
  - No URL
- Applies only to the following types of sources:
  - Original images of books such as Google Books
  - Law review articles, etc. obtained from HeinOnline
  - Original images of cases from the printed reporter, obtained from Westlaw, Lexis, etc.
  - Original images of Rule 13 materials, obtained from the GPO website or HeinOnline
  - Rule 18.8 photographs and images

(2) Online version of common, published source

- "common, published source" = there is a specific rule in The Bluebook for it
  - Examples (nonexhaustive): briefs, letters, memoranda, press releases, working papers, federal agency reports, etc.
- Cite as if you're citing the print version + append URL and permalink
  - Brief for the United States, United States v. Rattoballi, 452 F.3d 27 (2d Cir. 2006) (No. 05-1562-CR), https://www.justice.gov/atr/cases/f209400/209434.html [https://perma.cc/XYZ].

S.R. 18

(3) PDFs

- PDFs from the internet are a very common source
- Format: <Author>, <Title>, <SPONSORING ORG.> (full date), URL [permalink].
- Cite generic Rule 15 reports like this!

S.R. 18

- [Author]
  - Romanized
  - If institutional author, abbreviate according to T6 and T10, UNLESS the same institutional author as the sponsoring organization. In the latter case, omit author name.

- [Title]
  - Italicized
  - Capitalize according to Rule 8(a), not the actual capitalization of the source (contrary to Rule 8(b))

S.R. 18

- [SPONSORING ORG.]
  - SMALL CAPS
  - Abbreviate according to T6, T10, and T13
  - If the PDF was written by a subdivision of a larger institution, that subdivision is the "institutional author," and the larger institution is the sponsoring organization
  - Pincite, if applicable, after sponsoring organization

- (date)
  - Give the month, day, and year (or whatever is available)
  - No "last updated" or "last visited"

- URL [permalink]
  - Comma after the date parenthetical, before the URL and permalink

S.R. 18

- Human author: Robert A. Levy, The Case Against President Obama's Health Care Reform: A Primer for Nonlawyers, CATO INST. 10 (2011), https://www.cato.org/pubs/wtpapers/ObamaHealthCareReform-Levy.pdf [https://perma.cc/XYZ].

- Subdivision author: Env't Div., Clean Coal Technology Demonstration Program, U.S. DEP'T OF ENERGY (May 2009), https://www.energy.gov/sites/prod/files/cct_factcard.pdf [https://perma.cc/XYZ].

- No author, just sponsoring org.: Annual Report 2010-2011, CTR. FOR INDIVIDUAL RTS. 19 (2011), https://www.cir-usa.org/articles/cir_annual_report_2011sm2.pdf [https://perma.cc/XYZ].

(4) Non-PDF Webpages

- Use this approach if you can't find a PDF version. PDFs are always preferred.

- Cite in the same ways as a PDF, with three exceptions:
  - (1) Instead of the sponsoring organization, give the main webpage (same as periodical titles – omit "a," "at," "in," "of," and "the," but retain "on")
  - (2) Instead of a document title you have a page title. Only include a page title if you're citing a specific part of the website other than the main webpage.
  - (3) Include the date of publication to the nearest minute if available, not just the nearest day, month, year, etc.

S.R. 18

- Human author: Marissa Miller, Monday Round-Up, SCOTUSBLOG (Mar. 5, 2012, 9:55 AM), https://www.scotusblog.com/2012/03/monday-round-up-108 [https://perma.cc/XYZ].

- Institutional author: Fed. R.R. Admin., Railroad Safety, U.S. DEP'T TRANSP., https://www.fra.dot.gov/rrs/pages/fp_3.shtml [https://perma.cc/XYZ].

- No author, just a specific page within a website: The Butterfly Conservatory, AM. MUSEUM NAT. HIST., https://www.amnh.org/exhibitions/butterflies [https://perma.cc/XYZ].

- No author, no specific page: DAILY KOS, http://www.dailykos.com [https://perma.cc/XYZ].

URLs

- Should always begin with “https://” or “http://”
- Remove the final “/”
  - Wrong: https://www.yalelawjournal.org/
  - Right: https://www.yalelawjournal.org
- Remove hyperlinks
- Remove unnecessary appendages in the URL (basically, anything after .html)
  - Wrong: https://www.nytimes.com/2011/02/17/science/17jeopardy-watson.html?_r=1
  - Right: https://www.nytimes.com/2011/02/17/science/17jeopardy-watson.html

Permalinks

- All online sources must be followed with a permalink!
  - This is YLJ's archival tool
  - Although the Style Guide has instructions for creating permalinks, for the Exam, you will not need to create permalinks
  - However, you should still check for their presence and formatting!
- Perma links must begin with "https://," followed by "perma.cc"
- Always enclose in brackets, not parentheses
  - [https://perma.cc/P42A-TAN2]
- On the Exam, indicate that a permalink has to be added with [<permalink>]

Short Forms

- Id. and supra!
- Format: [Author Last Name or Title/Description of Document], supra note X.

Rule 18

Specific Source Rules

- Rule 18.3: AI-Generated Content
- Rule 18.4: Electronic Databases
- Rule 18.5: Electronic Storage Media
- Rule 18.6: Microform
- Rule 18.7*: Videographic Media
- Rule 18.8*: Audio Recordings and Streaming

- Rule 18.10: Social Media
- Rule 18.11: Hardware and Software

*Indicates Style Guide deviation

Rule 19: Services

Services

- We’re not testing this rule! ☺

Rule 20: Foreign Materials

Foreign Materials

- We are keeping this very high-level…
- This is another rule that is meant to function primarily as a reference guide and varies heavily by jurisdiction!
  - If there is a conflict between Rule 20 and T2, T2 wins!
  - T2 is online only
- 20.1: When citing any non-U.S. source, indicate the jurisdiction parenthetically and before any parallel citations
  - Canada Act, 1982, c 11 (U.K.), reprinted in R.S.C. 1985, app II, no 44 (Can.).

Non-English-Language Docs

- Give the document's full title or name in its original language, followed by brackets containing its unabbreviated English title in the same typeface
- Include the abbreviation (T2/Rule 20.6) in brackets after the non-English-language name

1 BÜRGERLICHES GESETZBUCH [BGB] [CIVIL CODE] art. 13 (Ger.)

Cases

- Common-law cases
  - Indicate deciding court parenthetically
    - R v. Lockwood (1782) 99 Eng. Rep. 379 (KB)
  - Unless it is clear it is the highest court, in which you only indicate the jurisdiction (if not clear from the reporter)
    - Chase v. Campbell, [1962] S.C.R. 425 (Can.).
- Non-common law cases
  - Refer to Rule 20.3.2 and T2! Lots of variance

Constitutions

- Cite foreign constitutions by name followed by their abbreviation
- If it's unclear it is a constitution, indicate so in brackets
- Include country abbreviation at end
- Check T2!

BUNDESVERFASSUNG [BV] [CONSTITUTION] Apr. 18, 1999, SR 101, art. 29 (Switz.)

Statutes

- Common-law jurisdictions
  - If the statutes are codified or compiled, cite like U.S. statutes (Rule 12)
  - Otherwise, cite like U.K. statutes

- Non-common law jurisdictions → T2 <3

Rule 20

- Focus on the things we emphasized in this presentation.
- You are not responsible for Rule 20.6!
- For short forms, no supra. See Rule 20.7 for complete breakdown.

Rule 21: International Materials

International Materials

- Know what can be found here. Rule 21.1 is a great reference!
- Once you've identified what the source is, follow the corresponding examples in Rule 21.

S.R. 24:

Guidelines for Style

- Very important! Don't forget about it!
- "e.g." and "i.e." in the text
  - Always romanized, followed by comma, and never starting a sentence
  - If in main text and NOT in a parenthetical, write out.
    - e.g. → for example | i.e. → that is
- "that" vs. "which"
  - "That" defines or restricts. "Which" describes once defined.
  - Careful: just putting a comma before "which" doesn't necessarily make it correct.
- Parts and Sections
  - For numbering: roman numerals, then capital letters, then numerals, then lowercase letters (e.g., Section I.A.1.a)
  - VERY COMMON MISTAKE: Section II.A, NOT ~~Part II.A.~~
  - We don't use "subsection"

- Singular they
  - Fully permissible
  - Defer to author's choice of "he" or "she" as generic singular pronoun
- Inclusive language
  - Won't be tested on the exam, but important to note
  - Favored: Author X's analysis is scattered.
  - Disfavored: Author X's analysis is schizophrenic.
- Do not split infinitives
  - "~~to narrowly construe~~" vs. "to construe narrowly"
- "internet" should always be lower case
- "data" should always be plural
- case law, not caselaw

- Possessives
  - If it's singular, add " 's ", even if the word ends with an s.
    - The princess's jewels
  - If it's plural, only add the apostrophe.
    - The princesses' jewels
    - United States's, Congress's
  - If compound and function as one unit, only add " 's" after the second noun:
    - Professor Koh's and Gluck's articles versus Koh and Gluck's articles
- Coined Plurals
  - No apostrophe before the "s"
    - 1920s, YMCAs

- Lists
  - We use the oxford comma
    - i.e., insert a comma before the "and"
    - Example: They are going to London, Paris, and Lisbon.
  - EXCEPT: We don't use an oxford comma with an "&"
    - For example, author names: HAROLD KOH, ROBERT POST & ABBE GLUCK
- Remember, curly quotation marks (and apostrophes!), not straight
  - "" not " "
- Dashes and Hyphens
  - We only use em dashes and hyphens (never en dashes)
  - Use an em dash to indicate a break in thought
    - Right: She is the kindest—and most generous—person I know.
    - Wrong: ~~She is the kindest - and most generous - person I know.~~

- Use slashes (not hyphens) when two items are opposites/in tension
- Errors in the text that is being quoted:
  - Either fix the error with brackets [] or indicate error with [sic]
  - Original text: "The doctors is opposed."
  - Quoted text: "The doctors [are] opposed."
- Do not alter quotations to conform with YLJ style rules
  - Original text: "Supreme Court justices read briefs, participate in oral arguments and write opinions."
  - Wrong: "Supreme Court [J]ustices read briefs, participate in oral arguments[,] and write opinions."
  - Right: "Supreme Court justices read briefs, participate in oral arguments and write opinions."
- And more! Be sure to read this rule in depth.
